

Principia® News January 2013

Principia eDelivery

More and more of our subscribers are moving to our eDelivery-only offering each month. eDelivery eliminates physical disc delivery and offers the most efficient, timely, and cost-effective way to get your Principia updates. Users who move to eDelivery still have access to the same information they get with a disc subscription, including online access to past updates that you can install at any time. If you are still receiving discs in the mail and would like to switch to eDelivery, send an email to principia@morningstar.com or call 866 705-5551.

2013 Morningstar Investment Conference and Advisor User Forum

The 2013 Morningstar Advisor User Forum will be held on June 12 at our Chicago headquarters. It is an exclusive day for Principia, Advisor Workstation, and Morningstar Office subscribers to get information right from the source. The Morningstar Investment Conference immediately follows the Advisor User Forum; it brings the financial community's top minds together to discuss news, strategies, and tactics for investment professionals. Once again, the 2013 conference will take place at Chicago's McCormick Place convention center. Check out the websites for the conference (http://www.morningstar.com/products/conferences/mic_home.html) and user forum (<http://corporate.morningstar.com/us/asp/subject.aspx?xmlfile=532.xml>) to get the most up-to-date information on both events. If you have questions now, call 866 839-9729.

Best regards,

Brian Cullen
Principia Product Manager
Morningstar, Inc.